COMPLIANCE REGULATIONS

Under NCAA rules, the University is responsible for the actions of its boosters. As a premium seat ticket holder, you are considered a BOOSTER under NCAA rules. This is a status you retain indefinitely.

Extra Benefits/Recruiting Inducements:

Extra benefits and recruiting inducements are impermissible benefits provided to student-athletes or prospective student-athletes (recruits), respectively. As a result, please do not give your tickets to prospects, current student-athletes, or their family or friends. Further, boosters should not provide or arrange for transportation to games, lodging in the locale of games or meals in conjunction with attending games. Finally, academic assistance can result in a NCAA violation if provided by a booster to either a current student-athlete or a prospective student-athlete. As a result, please do not provide tutoring services or academic assistance to these individuals.

Boosters Role in Recruiting:

Boosters are not permitted to have either on-campus or off-campus recruiting contact with recruits or their families. The University is responsible for any face-to-face contact between recruits and boosters in a non-public area of athletics facility (e.g. sidelines, tunnel, etc.) regardless of the duration or nature of the conversation. Please do not approach prospects to have a conversation. Further, the prohibition on recruiting contact includes telephone and written communication. While we appreciate your interest in recruiting, please leave the recruiting to the coaches.

Pre-Existing Relationships:

One of the questions a compliance office often receives is whether an individual may provide a prospective student-athlete or current student-athlete benefits because they had a prior relationship. The NCAA has the following guidelines to determine whether benefits might be permissible:

1. The relationship between the athlete (or the athlete's parents) and the individual providing the benefit(s) cannot have developed as a result of the athlete's participation in athletics or notoriety related to athletics.
2. The relationship between the athlete (or the athlete's parents) and the individual providing the benefit(s) must have predated the athlete's status as a prospective student-athlete (7th grade for men's basketball and softball; 9th grade for all other sports) or the athlete's notoriety as a result of his/her ability (if earlier than reaching status as a prospective student-athlete).
3. The pattern of benefits provided by the individual to the athlete (or the athlete's parents) must be similar in nature to those provided prior to the individual becoming a prospective student-athlete.
